Prior Experience

Prior to joining Bush Seyferth PLLC, Hallam served as legal counsel in the Detroit Mayor's Office. In addition to offering legal analysis relating to mayoral priorities, Hallam prosecuted several high-profile cases involving Detroit's ongoing attempts to address blight and speculation in its housing market. Hallam also defended the City in several cases, including one relating to the scope of the Health Director's authority to set policies to protect the safety of Detroit residents.

Hallam received his J.D., cum laude, from the University of Michigan Law School in 2017, where he was a contributing editor of the Michigan Law Review. Following law school, Hallam clerked for Justice Kurtis T. Wilder on the Michigan Supreme Court, and Judge Judith E. Levy on the Eastern District of Michigan. While clerking for Judge Levy, his docket included the litigation arising out of the Flint Water Crisis.

Hallam received his Master of Mechanical Engineering, with honors, from the University of Leeds in the United Kingdom, with a concentration in Automotive Engineering. Before attending law school, Hallam practiced as an engineer with Melrose PLC.
