Stephanie A. Douglas Member

Stephanie Douglas leads BSP's appellate, class action, and complex briefing teams. She focuses on translating complex legal and technical arguments into simple, understandable, and persuasive language.

Stephanie specializes in strategic decisions and issue preservation. She advises clients and other counsel on trial-level issues and appeals in state and federal courts around the country.

Stephanie enjoys analyzing complex issues on nearly any topic, including constitutional law, contracts, product liability and other torts, tax, statutory interpretation, and employment law. Her clients include auto makers, private software companies, and insurers.

Representative Matters

Critical Motions and Appeals

Prior Experience

Before joining BSP, Stephanie was a judicial law clerk to Judge Raymond Kethledge on the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals and Judge John Feikens in the Eastern District of Michigan, and an associate at Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP. She graduated summa cum laude from the University of Michigan Law School, where she earned numerous awards for outstanding academic work and served as the executive articles editor for the school’s technology journal.

Stephanie’s technology roots run deep. She earned her B.S.E. in Computer Engineering, with honors, from the University of Michigan, and then worked for ten years as a computer consultant for Andersen Consulting (now Accenture). Stephanie worked on teams that revamped some of America’s top companies’ technology solutions, and patented a hyper-video-editing system before the Internet was a household name.
