NATIONAL COORDINATING DISCOVERY OVERVIEW

As a national trial firm, BSP has experience defending cases of all sizes across the United States. The National Coordinating Discovery Practice brings together BSP's national reach, deep expertise in discovery, and winning strategies in the defense of products and technology. We work with clients to develop discovery strategies for products, components and systems that work across cases and over time. BSP knows not only our clients' technology and industry, but also their people and their priorities. Our approach works to save resources, preserve the knowledge base, and improve outcomes.

COUNSELING AND TRAINING ON COMPLIANCE AND BEST PRACTICES INCLUDE:

- Information Management
- Data Retention Policies
- Litigation Holds
- Spoliation Prevention
- Assessment of Current Capabilities
- Cost Considerations
- Proportionality (Cost & Scope)
- Technology Assisted Review and Machine Learning in E-Discovery
- Attorney-Client Privilege and Work-Product Doctrine
- Government Inquiries and Subpoenas

DISCOVERY OF ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION:

The BSP National Coordinating Discovery Team represents large companies in cases requiring electronic discovery of all scales. We supplement our core in-house team with vendor partners to provide technology and flexible staffing on a case-by-case basis. With a focus on cost and quality control, our team manages Early Case Assessment (ECA) of Large Data Collections; and Technology Assisted Review (TAR), as appropriate. For document review, we work with clients to right-size e-discovery, ensuring quality and affording economies-of-scale pricing. BSP combines years of discovery success with cutting edge technology and tools to help its clients confront discovery challenges and win.
